The Conductors

Patricia Brumbaugh, Assistant Professor of Music and Director of Bands at Arkansas State University, was awarded the Bachelor of Music degree by Olivet College (Michigan) in 1976 and the Master of Music degree by the University of Michigan in 1986. Prior to coming to Arkansas State University in the Fall of 1988, she served on the conducting faculty of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, and for twelve years was Director of Bands at Central Montcalm, Jackson Northwest and Ann Arbor Huron High Schools, all in Michigan. Mrs. Brumbaugh has been guest conductor for several district honor bands and at Eastern Michigan University, Wichita State University, Abilene Christian University, Northwestern University, Stephen F. Austin State University, the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp and National Music Camp, Interlochen. She has also served as guest lecturer at Michigan State University, Wichita State University, Abilene Christian University, Arkansas Music Educators Association Convention, Northwestern University and the University of Michigan. Mrs. Brumbaugh has served the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association as chairman of the State Marching Band Committee, Vice President for Solo and Ensemble, and Vice President for Music Selection. She frequently serves as an adjudicator of Band, Orchestra and Jazz Band Festivals. In 1984, Mrs. Brumbaugh was the National Winner of the Stanbury "Outstanding Young Band Director" award sponsored by the American School Band Directors Association.

Major Lowell E. Graham, a native of Greeley, Colorado, has earned worldwide recognition as one of the most talented conductors in the U.S. Air Force music program. In the fall of 1966 he accepted a scholarship to the School of Music at the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley, where he enrolled as a clarinet major. Major Graham received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Music Education in 1970, and one year later earned his Master of Arts degree in Performance from the same university. In 1971, Major Graham became Director of Instrumental Music at Colby Community College in Colby, Kansas. He taught theory, harmony, music literature, and conducted the band and wind ensemble. In 1974, Major Graham auditioned for the U.S. Air Force Band Command Program and was immediately accepted. His first assignment was as Assistant Director and Deputy Commander of the Air Force Band of the West at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. In 1975 he became Conductor and Director of the U.S. Air Force String Orchestra and Strolling Strings, Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D.C. In 1977, Major Graham became the first person to be awarded the Doctor of Musical Arts degree in Orchestral Conducting from the Catholic University of America. In 1981, he became the Commander and Conductor of the Air Force Band of the Golden Gate, Travis Air Force Base, California. Under Major Graham's command, the Tactical Air Command Band has become the most honored and decorated band in the Air Force. The Commission on the Bicentennial of the United State Constitution granted official recognition to the TAC Band for its supporting efforts which were "of exceptional merit with national significance, and substantial educational and historic value." Among other awards are the first "Colonel George S. Howard Citation of Musical Excellence," the "Order of the Long Leaf Pine" -- North Carolina's highest award for artistic and cultural contributions, and over forty mayoral proclamations. The Tactical Air Command Band has been awarded three Air Force Outstanding Unit Awards since Major Graham assumed command of the band in July, 1984.
